Monitored Child Exchange

A monitored child exchange occurs when one parent transfers the child to the other parent as part of a custody or visitation agreement, often for an overnight during the week or for weekend visitation.

Transfers are documented by trained family monitors who will identify what times were the exchanges, the conditions of the children, what transpired during the exchange, i.e., children's emotional attitudes, parents' apparent and spoken concerns and attitudes. Signatures are required and times noted including tardiness and no shows. Observations by monitors and comments made by parents are documented as well.

Recommendations for Attorneys and Pro Se Parent Parties

For appropriately supervised visitation, it is important that the parties have a court order. We have found that court orders frequently lack clarification for visitation including:

- who is responsible for the intake fee;
- Who is responsible for service fees;
- when will visitation be scheduled;
- how frequently shall the visitation occur;
- a maximum number of hours.

Service Fees:

The Child Exchange/Visitation Program requires an intake for each parent and or guardian and the service fee per child exchange.

Initial Intake Fee: $95 per parent/party

Monitored Child Exchanges Fees:

Standard Child Exchange Fee - $69 per exchange (1 way exchange)

Qualified Indigent Fee* - $49 per exchange (1 way exchange)

*Requires certified court issued indigent status form.

Fees must be prepaid at least 24 hours prior to the scheduled exchange/visitation service.
